Island Peak Climbing – Nepal’s Most Popular 6,000m Peak

Island Peak (Imja Tse), standing at 6,189 meters (20,305 feet), is one of Nepal’s most popular 6,000m peaks, located in the Khumbu region near Everest. Slightly more technical than Lobuche or Mera Peak, Island Peak offers a rewarding challenge for fit trekkers seeking their first high-altitude mountaineering experience.

Climbing Island Peak requires basic mountaineering skills, including the use of crampons, ice axes, and fixed ropes, and can be safely achieved with the support of an experienced Sherpa guide. The standard route traverses glaciers and high-altitude camps, offering breathtaking views of Ama Dablam, Lhotse, and the surrounding Himalayas.

The best climbing seasons for Island Peak are spring (March–May) and autumn (September–November), when weather conditions are most favorable. Climbers must obtain both a Sagarmatha National Park permit and an Island Peak climbing permit. Our expertly crafted Island Peak itinerary includes a trek to Everest Base Camp for perfect acclimatization, blending thrilling adventure with beginner-friendly mountaineering. The climb involves moderate technical skills—crampons, ice axes, and harnesses—but remains safe and accessible with our guidance.

Why Island Peak Is Nepal’s Favorite Climbing Peak

Island Peak was named by the famous British mountaineer Eric Shipton in 1953. He chose the name because the peak resembles an island rising from a vast sea of ice and snowfields. Today, Island Peak is one of Nepal’s most popular climbing peaks, attracting thousands of climbers every year due to its manageable technical challenge and spectacular Himalayan views.

Top Reasons to Climb Island Peak:

1. Reach a stunning altitude of 6,189 meters (20,305 feet)
2. Perfect for beginner climbers seeking a manageable technical challenge
3. Safe ascent with fixed ropes and guided support
4. Breathtaking panoramic views of Everest, Lhotse Shar, Makalu, Baruntse, and Ama Dablam
5. Ideal acclimatization experience when combined with Everest Base Camp Trek
6. Comprehensive Himalayan expedition including glacier travel and basic mountaineering skills
7. Explore the scenic Khumbu Valley and immerse yourself in Sherpa culture and hospitality

Some of our groups are even fewer people with only 4 or 6 team members. This will therefore give you are more personalized experience on our exceptional trek up to Khare and climb Mera Peak. You can move as a team and experience more of these world-class trails in a smaller group.

9). More Summit Attempts

We have more days for summit attempts. We have one night in high camp and one night in Island Peak Base Camp. We also have an extra day at the end of the trek, since there is no guarantee that we will have good weather on our planned day for the summit. Therefore, this day is set aside as a contingency in case we are unable to summit the Mera on the desired day due to bad weather conditions or any other unanticipated reason. We can use that day for summit attempts. The program is designed with this in mind so the guides can manage the team, safety, and summit attempts while having good options. You may need this flexibility.

10). Specialists and Experts:

All our Sherpa team knows everything about how to climb Island Peak safely. after having done it so many times and they know the Nepal mountains and Himalayas route from first-hand experience.

Gears & Equipments

Island Peak Climbing Gears & Equipments information

HEADGEAR / EYEWEAR

1. Bandana: Bandanas are large kerchiefs, usually colorful, and used either as headgear or as a handkerchief, neckerchief, bikini, or sweatband. Wearing a multi-functional bandana will keep your neck warm and help retain moisture in the mouth. We recommend that you carry a thin bandana and one with fleece lining which can be used at higher elevations. This will avoid you from receiving the dreaded Khumbu Cough. You can also use it as headwear to ward off the dust on the trails.
2. Sun hat and sunglasses: Baseball caps and sombrero-style sun hats keep the sun away from your ears, and necks and prevent sunburns. Likewise, we suggest you bring high-quality sunglasses and ski goggles with UV protection to protect your eyes from the sun and wind protection at high altitudes.

3. HEADLAMP: Having a good quality headlamp is necessary when climbing peaks in the dark. Please do not forget to bring freshly installed batteries pulse spare batteries. A headlamp will be very useful for you to see where you are going and keeps your hands free to climb.
4. Fleece Lined Hat: A fleece-lined hat protects your head from the cold in the chilly mornings and evenings. You can wear them at night and while roaming in and around the lodges and tents. You can also wear them under your helmet during your climbing period.

For Hands

1. Gloves: High-quality Gloves are compulsory while climbing Island Peak. They keep your hands warm. We strongly suggest you carry a pair of warm shell gloves with insulated removable liners. As climbing requires moving your hands frequently with ropes and equipment, a glove with a good handgrip is necessary.
2. Sleeping Bag: A warm and quality sleeping bag is necessary for Island Peak, regardless of the season, you plan to climb. You can guarantee freezing nights on the base camp of Island Peak and without a warm sleeping bag, you will be uncomfortable and cold. if you don't have your own sleeping bag. You can buy or rent a quality sleeping bag in Kathmandu at a reasonable price.
3. Eye Mask & Ear Plugs: Good sleeping when on the mountain is very important to enjoy the trip and lack of it can make easy days very challenging. Some of the Teahouses have very thin walls and some don't have curtains for the windows. Chances are, people will be noisy and sunlight will wake you before you're ready to get up.

Practical Clothing

1. UNDERSHORTS & GARMENTS: We suggest bringing two to three pairs or as per your personal preferences. It is suggested that you carry a sufficient number of undergarments or a few of them and wash the used ones along the way. We suggest bringing comfortable athletic styles based on your needs and preferences. Be sure to carry an extra plastic bag to store your used garments. You don't want to mix your used clothes with fresh ones.
2. BASELAYER BOTTOM & TOP: We suggest buying Wool, wool blend, polyester, or other synthetic fabrics Baselayer bottom which works well. Be sure your baselayer pants are not made from cotton. We advise lighter-weight baselayers rather than heavier fleece-type layers. The base layer is to keep you warm in cold temperatures. You can use them while sleeping in the camps or even on the summit night under your Gore-Tex pants and tops. The base layer (top) with a hood is recommended.
3. LONG SLEEVE SUN SHIRT: You can carry 2 – 3 normal t-shirts to wear while trekking in the lower regions. You can wash these T-shirts on the trail and one long-sleeved base layer top, which will help you to keep warm in cold temperatures. Non-cotton materials such as merino wool or polyester are highly suggested.

4. SOFTSHELL PANTS: We highly recommend bringing Stretchy, comfortable, non-insulated softshell pants that should fit comfortably with or without your base layer bottoms.
5. HARDSHELL PANTS: Fully waterproof shell pants that fit comfortably over your baselayer bottoms are highly recommended. You can carry them in your backpack so that it is easy to take them out when needed. They prove to be handy on rainy days.
6. HARDSHELL JACKET: We highly suggest bringing a fully waterproof and non-insulated shell jacket with a hood. This should fit comfortably over your mid-layer, baselayer, and softshell.
7. INSULATED DOWN PARKA/DOWN JACKET: A very good quality hooded down jacket is must essential during your Island peak expeditions in Nepal. A normal down sweater or light puffy jacket will not be enough. The good down jackets keep you warm and are easy to carry because they can fit into a compact bag and are light in weight.

Footwear:

1. LINER SOCKS
2. WOOL OR SYNTHETIC SOCKS: We highly suggest bringing appropriate pairs of socks for the Island Peak trip. As you go from warm temperatures to the cold and then back to warm again, ranges of trekking socks are necessary. You can have a mix of liner socks, light socks, and thick socks. A minimum of two pairs of thin socks and two pairs of thick socks are recommended. Keep a spare pair of fresh socks to switch into after arriving at the camp or teahouse.
3. DOUBLE BOOTS: Climbing boots are essential during the climb to the summit. These boots must be light and warm so as to prevent your feet from frostbite. Get the size that fits you right and you are comfortable walking with those on. If you want to rent these boots our Sherpa guide will organize them at Chhukung, this means you should not have to carry these heavy boots from Kathmandu.
4. GAITERS
5. LIGHT HIKING BOOTS OR TREKKING SHOES: Trekking boots are for your walk in the lower parts of the trail. Get the hiking boots that are lightweight, high comfort, plenty of room in the toe box with sturdy soles and ankle support. These boots help you balance the varied terrains of Nepal.
6. Trail shoes/ Running shoes/ Sandals: You can either bring your running shoes or sandals. This shoe is for you to change back to after arriving at the camps or tea houses.

Bags

1. Main rucksack or Travel bag (70 liters): Porters are not allowed to carry more than 15 kg in total Per person and this allowance needs to include space for their own belongings. So make sure your bag does not exceed the weight of 15kg. Mountain Sherpa Trekking will provide you with a quality duffel bag during your trip, which remains yours even after you return from the trip. You can transfer all your necessary clothes to our company duffle bag when you are in Kathmandu and you can leave your extra city clothes in the hotel with your main rucksack or Travel bag.

2. Day pack (30-40 liters): We highly recommend 30-40 liters (8 gallons) to carry every day on your back, so make sure it has room for essentials such as water bottles, spare layers, and waterproofs, cameras, etc. Please make to bring a rain cover for your daypack. This MUST have a hip belt for support/weight loading and should have an inner frame for comfort on your back.
3. Dry bags / tough poly bags: Make sure all your contents are wrapped in waterproof bags to keep them dry. Use them also to store used clothes during the trek. We have various sizes for rent.
